

|                               |   |                 |              |                |     |
|-------------------------------|---|-----------------|--------------|----------------|-----|
| Course Title                  | DISSEMINATION OF RESEARCH RESULTS III  |                 |              |                |     |
| Course Code                   | ESSRE722  |                 |              |                |     |
| Course Type                   | CORE  |                 |              |                |     |
| Level                         | PHD (LEVEL 3)   |                 |              |                |     |
| Year / Semester               | 3rd / SPRING  |                 |              |                |     |
| Teacher's Name                | Research Consultant and Advisory BoardThe PhD candidate, in collaboration and with guidance from the Research Advisor, is invited to publish his/her work in a relevant scientific journal or to present his/her work in a peer-reviewed scientific conference which publishes its proceedings.     |                 |              |                |     |
| ECTS                          | 10  | Lectures / week | N/A          | Workshops/week | N/A |
| Course Purpose and Objectives | Based on the work done throughout the student's course in the doctoral program, the student is encouraged by the Research Advisor to publish his/her work and the research results in peer-reviewed scientific conferences which publish their proceedings, as well as in relevant scientific journals. |                 |              |                |     |
| Learning Outcomes             | N/A   |                 |              |                |     |
| Prerequisites                 | N/A   |                 | Corequisites | N/A            |     |
| Course content                | N/A   |                 |              |                |     |
| Teaching Methodology          | N/A   |                 |              |                |     |
| Bibliography                  | N/A   |                 |              |                |     |
| Assessment                    | The course is assessed by the Research Advisor of each student. Students are graded as follows: Pass - Fail   |                 |              |                |     |
| Language                      | Greek - English   |                 |              |                |     |